Pre-Pharmacy preparation offered at UCCS prepares students for candidacy into professional programs offered at other facilities. Although the program only requires 90 hours of prerequisite course work, a college program leading to a bachelor's degree generally strengthens a student's application to the program. Students in the pre-Pharmacy program are advised to choose a major and should plan to graduate with a Bachelor's degree from UCCS.

Application for the Pharmacy program at the CU Skaggs School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences is available through the Pharmacy College Application Service (PharmCAS). The application cycle for PharmCAS begins in July. The Pharmacy College Admissions Test (PCAT) should be completed within three years prior to application and should be completed no later than two months prior to the application deadline. The admissions committee assesses each applicant's credentials and makes interview selections after the deadline. Selection for interviews is based primarily on overall GPA, including a separate evaluation of the chemistry, biology and mathematics GPAs and PCAT scores. In addition, recommendations, the application essay and pre-pharmacy course deficiencies are considered in the interview selection process. The onsite interview process is designed to assess the applicant's knowledge of the profession, communication and ability to perform in a positive, professional manner when working with others. In addition to an individual interview, the candidate will write an essay on an assigned topic, and will be observed in a problem-solving group activity to further assess interpersonal communication skills. To be considered for admission, applicants must participate in the onsite interview process.
