Ph.D. Program
Educational Leadership,
Research and Policy

The University of Colorado at Colorado Springs College of Education is pleased to accept applications for our Ph.D. in Educational Leadership, Research and Policy.

The program is designed to meet the personal and professional needs of educational leaders in school districts, higher education, and non-governmental organizations through rigorous courses in leadership, research and policy. This innovative program combines challenging coursework with collaborative faculty-student research labs that prepare students for successful completion of the dissertation and professional application of skills and knowledge. The curriculum will require:

- 22 research credit hours
- 18 credit hours in professional development curriculum
- 30 credit hours of doctoral dissertation

The subject areas will include ethics, research statistics and specific courses in leadership and educational policy development. For more information about the Ph.D. in Educational Research and Policy please click on the words below to visit the website.
