

ensity

Low Memory	Low EF	Low Combo
High Memory	High EF	High Combo

contained Vignettes, Vignette symptom scale (VSS), Negative symptoms scale (NSS), demographic questionnaire

Example Vignette

High Combination

, is 76 and enjoys her life in a small community away from the “big city life” where you and your family live. She had her mother died 10 years ago. Doris is a retired accountant who enjoys entertaining guests and participating in many activities. When you and your mother she showed you that the roof had a slight leak as soon as she invited you in. You told her that you would fix it but she stayed upset despite your reassurance that it would be repaired. You and your mother sat down to visit for a long time. She told you all about her weekly bridge games and how much fun she had been having with her friends. When you needed some items from the grocery store, so she grabbed her grocery list and the two of you left. She retrieved the items and then drove to the grocery store. After the two of you finished shopping at the grocery store, your mother said she would go to a department store to look for clothes. You spent an hour at the store and then returned to your mother’s house. Upon arriving home, you saw the mail and you reminded her that she had already gotten it. She became angry with you and said that you had run into the house. You went inside and began putting the groceries away while your mother started cooking dinner. You began clearing the table and talked with her. Your mother told you about her bridge games again and you continued to talk. When the meal was ready you and your mother sat down to eat and had a good conversation.