

Mentor	Students
Hasker Davis	Shannon Foster 4th year PhD sfoster2@uccs.edu Research interests: early detection of dementia using neuropsychological and neurophysiological methods Clinical interests: caregivers and individuals in early stages of dementia; neuropsychology
	Sheena Horning 3rd year PhD Research interests: Cognitive aging across the lifespan; Religiosity and its relationship to well-being and coping
	Roxann Wetherington 1st year PhD Research Interest: Cognitive aging Clinical Interest(s): individual therapy, clinical neuropsychology Therapy orientation(s): CBT, interpersonal
Mike Kisley	Shannon Foster 4th year PhD sfoster2@uccs.edu Research interests: early detection of dementia using neuropsychological and neurophysiological methods Clinical interests: caregivers and individuals in early stages of dementia; neuropsychology
	Tara Noecker 6th year PhD tnoecker@uccs.edu
Eddie Greene	Sheri C. Gibson 1st year, clinical MA sgibson2@uccs.edu Research interests include: Lay and expert knowledge of elder financial abuse, and older adults' comprehension of language contained in wills Clinical interests include: Working with older adults, their caregivers, and families.
Charles Benight	Jason Mitchell 1st year MA-Clinical jmitce3@uccs.edu Research interests: PTSD, trauma, alcohol and drug use Clinical interests: clinical interests match my research interests, working with trauma survivors and in drug and alcohol use/abuse.
Leilani Feliciano	Mary Steers 1st year PhD msteers@uccs.edu Research interests: Behavioral interventions to reduce agitation and depression in individuals with Down's syndrome and dementia, environmental modification to reduce agitation

	Clinical interests: Behavioral excesses, mood disorders
Thomas Pyszczynski	Matt Motyl 2nd year, MA-Experimental mmotyl@uccs.edu Research interests: examine the role of fundamental existential issues in understanding inter-group relations, political attitudes and behaviors, and terrorism. My work in Dr. Tom Pyszczynski's lab uses the theoretical framework of terror management theory and the writings of existential philosophers such as Ernest Becker and Erich Fromm as jumping off points to empirically address social issues.
	Molly Maxfield PhD program mmaxfiel@uccs.edu Research interests: Terror management processes in later life, sources of self-esteem and resiliency in later life Clinical interests: Existential psychotherapy with older adults
	Robert Tillery 2nd year MA-Experimental rtillery321@aol.com Research interest: ranges broadly from existential psychology, conceptions of reality, cultural worldviews and intergroup relations. My research has been focused on individual belief systems, political ideology, prejudice, stereotyping, and sexism
Daniel Segal	Meghan A. Marty 1st year PhD mmarty@uccs.edu
	Andrea June 2nd year PhD ajune@uccs.edu
Sara Qualls	Ashley Williams 5th year PhD Awillia3@uccs.edu
	Heidi Layton 5th year PhD hlayton@uccs.edu
	Kimberly Hiroto 4th year PhD khiroto@uccs.edu Research/clinical interests: Ethnic minority aging (perception of disease processes & help-seeking), environmental design and therapeutic environments, and cultural competency in clinical psychology
Brian Yochim	Katherine D. Kane 1st year PhD kkane3@uccs.edu
Bob Durham	Gina Tambone 1st year, MA-Clinical gtambone@uccs.edu Research interests: sexual offenders Clinical interests: adolescents
Lori James	Kethera Fogler

	3rd year, MA-Experimental, kbates@uccs.edu Research interests: Cognitive Psych and Aging
Fred Coolidge	Jillian Waller 1 st year, MA clinical jwaller@uccs.edu Research interests: personality disorders in older adults including symptom presentation, comorbidity, and awareness of having the disorder. Clinical interests: Working with older adults in a variety of settings.