Teaching Support

Course-Specific Library Instruction  https://www.uccs.edu/library/services/library-instruction
A working knowledge of the library and its resources is an important component of a student's education. We can provide your students with a general overview of library resources or tailor library instruction sessions to meet the needs of your particular course or assignment. These sessions may include hands-on practice with electronic resources in your discipline, an overview of reference materials in your subject area, search strategy formulation, advanced search techniques, and learning how to evaluate the quality of resources. Visit the website listed above to find the contact information for your subject librarian in order to schedule an instruction session for your class.

Print & Electronic Course Reserves  https://www.uccs.edu/library/services/reserves-faculty
We offer both print and electronic reserve services. Items that may be placed on Print Reserve include books, audiovisual materials, maps, government documents owned by the Kraemer Family Library, or your own personal copies. Items which may be placed on Electronic Reserve include book selections and journal articles.
