I. INTRODUCTION

The University of Colorado Colorado Springs (UCCS) fosters education, research, and service missions through the effective utilization of space. This policy applies to the allocation of space to be assigned and utilized in such a manner as to promote cooperation, collegiality, and synergy in education, student services and research enterprises. The Campus Space Management policy (Policy Number: 400-006) assumes a flexible allocation of space, with the capability to increase or decrease the resources available to any school/unit as needs change. This policy further states that the Vice Chancellor for Administration and Finance (VCAF) has overall responsibility for the equitable and optimum use of space resources and final authority over all space allocations and assignments. It is recognized that sometimes the reallocation of space, the adoption of space, the re-purposing of space or upgrade of space may require the facility to be altered. The overall responsibility and the final authority for these alternations lie with the VCAF.

Generally, the buildings and grounds (Facilities) of the UCCS campus are provided to enable the institution to accomplish its mission as a public institution of higher education. However, there are times when a given facility does not meet the current needs of the institution. In this case, the facility may need to be altered or adapted. This policy sets forth University regulations governing the alteration of facilities.
